Administration's School Mixing Policies to Be Put to Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration school desegregation policy—seen by critics as contradictory and confusing—comes to the test next week.

As pupils in 17 Southern and border states return to fall classes, a controversy swirls on the direction of civil rights enforcement 15 years after the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional the "separate but equal" concept.

"Pussyfooting" is the tag put on the Nixon policy by Clarence Mitchell Jr., Washington representative for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Retrogressive," said some dissident lawyers in the Justice Department's civil rights division.

"Politics," declared congressional liberals.

Nevertheless, by this time next week, government officials say almost twice the number of Negro youngsters will be attending previously all-white southern schools as in any previous year.

Figures alone are impressive.

The Department of Health,

Education and Welfare says that of 4,476 once segregated districts, a total of 2,994 will open next week with completely unitary schools, unidentifiable by race.

Of the remainder, 369 are under court orders to desegregate and 1,107 are functioning under voluntary plans submitted to HEW for achieving total integration.

"This means," said an HEW spokesman Thursday, "that where one-fifth of the South's Negro youngsters were attending integrated white schools last year, one third will have the advantage of an integrated education during 1969-70."

Around the figures game, however, swirls the controversy.

The administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson had set next month as the deadline for complete integration of once-segregated southern schools. Only a few exceptions were authorized.

In July, the Nixon administration relaxed those deadlines. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch said no absolute timetables would be followed, and further exemptions were granted to some school districts.

At the same time, they promised to pursue a vigorous enforcement policy, while condemning "unrealistic deadlines" that "may give the appearance of great federal activity but in too many cases . . . has actually impeded progress."

Following this policy, HEW granted some exemptions to this fall's deadline. Justice also made some concessions, notably in the case of 30 Mississippi school districts last Monday.

And, in Jackson, Miss., Thursday, the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals notified Mississippi education officials it had approved a move to delay until Dec. 1 new desegregation requirements for 33 of the state's school districts.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, had joined with state authorities in the move to delay the effective date of the new requirements—which he had supported only three weeks earlier—for complete desegregation of the districts.

This so upset civil rights division lawyers that Leonard had to make a rare court appearance to argue the case himself since none of his staff would handle the task.

The next day, division attorneys began an unprecedented campaign to seek assurance from administration officials that desegregation would be vigorously enforced. They implied that if their requests were not granted they might resign en masse.

The episode marked the final blow to some government lawyers, who claim Mitchell refused to allow some suits to be filed because of political considerations.

Despite a flurry of activity in July, the department has filed less than half—15 compared to 31—the school desegregation complaints filed at this time last year under President Johnson.

Clarence Mitchell, the NAACP's top lobbyist here, blames the inactivity on political considerations. He says the Mississippi case "is only part of a total pattern" whereby the administration is "trying to build a political base in the South."

A top-level Justice Department official, who has worked there for 13 years, insists that real desegregation progress is being made, despite appearances to the contrary.

"I think desegregation is much more real this year than last," he said in an interview this week. "Instead of freedom of choice, courts are now requiring plans that get down to the nitty-gritty."

Confession, Apology Demanded by Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea said today all three American helicopter crewmen who were shot down Aug. 17 are alive and offered to exchange them for a confession and apologies from Washington.

At a meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission, the chief North Korean representative said Capt. David H. Crawford of Pooler, Ga., and Spec. 4 Herman E. Hofstatter of Lowpoint, Ill., were seriously injured. He said WO Malcolm V. Loepke, the pilot, of Richmond, Ind., was slightly injured.

The North Korean delegate, Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-Sun, said doctors are treating them, but he gave no further information on their condition.

He said North Korea would consider their return "in accordance with past practices" if the Americans admitted "criminally" sending the OH23 helicopter over North Korea.

Lee apparently was referring to the arrangement under which North Korea released two other American helicopter crewmen in 1964, a year after they were shot down on May 17, 1963. The North Koreans returned them after the U.N. Command signed a document admitting they were spying, then repudiated the confession as soon as the men were returned. The same procedure was followed to get the Pueblo crew back last December.

Once again U.S. officials contend that the helicopter pilot lost his way and flew into North Korean air space by mistake.

"It seems that your side is not yet prepared to receive the three crewmen," the North Korean said, "and you are in no position to discuss the matter further."

Teachers Lose No Time In Threatening Walkouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

School bells may not be ringing on time for thousands of children this fall, as teachers in several communities threaten strikes or other job action.

Much of the trouble is in the Midwest.

Chicago's 19,000 teachers vote Tuesday on whether to strike at the opening of classes Wednesday. The maintenance workers in the 500-school system already voted to walk out.

He said 600 elementary school teachers in Joliet voted Sept. 2 on will honor pay raises promised to settle a two-day strike last May. The school board, pleading a lack of funds, adopted a supplementary budget last week providing money for half the promised increases.

The executive director of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, Oscar Weil, said Thursday as many as 15 school districts in the state could be struck when classes open next week.

In La Salle, Ill., the Tuesday opening of school was delayed by a strike by 80 of 110 teachers at LaSalle-Peru Town High School. Agreement was reached Wednesday and schools were to open today. At issue was the expiration date of the teachers' contract.

Receives Award

Corporal Pete Stohr (left) of the Missouri State Highway Patrol is shown receiving the annual Jaycees Law Enforcement Award Thursday evening at the Pacific Cafe. Stohr, who will retire in November, was selected by Pettis County law enforcement officers for his "dedication to duty and his fair and impartial law enforcement procedures." Ron Hoppes, Jaycees member, presents Stohr with a personal plaque and a "rotating plaque" which will be hung in the Pettis County Court House. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Big Night For Nurses

First Nursing Class Graduated

Fifteen State Fair Community College nursing students received professional certificates Thursday evening in graduation exercises marking their successful completion of the first licensed practical nursing program at SFCC.

The graduates are now qualified to take the state board examination to become licensed practical nurses.

The ceremony was held at 7:30 p.m. in the student union at the college where Thomas F. Eagleton, United States Senator from Missouri, gave the graduation address.

Nursing students in the first class: Pam Alsbaugh, Gertrude Basgal, Lorraine Bird, Ruby Gillespie, Betty Hall, Peggy Harrison, Mary Ann Holden, Nancy Kirby, Doris Lahns, Emma Stephenson, Sandy Sunderland, Opal Swearngin, Ruth Ann Ulmer, Ila Jean Volpp, and Jeanne White.

During the following two months, medical-surgical nursing and related items such as nutrition and pharmacology are studied both in the classroom and at Bothwell Hospital.

The class then rotates through pediatrics, obstetrics and advanced medical surgical nursing, having five weeks experience in each area.

The last nine weeks of the course include geriatric nursing and selected experiences such as working in the emergency and recovery rooms.

Following the procession and the invocation by the Rev. Marvin G. Albright, pastor of the United Church of Christ, the president of the college, Fred E. Davis, introduced Sen. Eagleton.

In his presentation to the graduating class, Eagleton stated that "Any institution of higher learning is a valuable asset to the community in which it is located, but colleges such as State Fair Community College have a special value.

First, they are equipped to give training over a broad spectrum of subjects, going beyond strictly academic subjects to

Kennedy's Wife Loses Her Baby

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's wife Joan has lost the baby she was expecting in February.

A spokesman at Cape Cod Hospital said today she was in good condition, resting comfortably and probably would remain in the hospital for a couple of days.

The spokesman said Mrs. Kennedy had undergone minor surgery which is usually routine in miscarriages.

Mrs. Kennedy, who will be 33 next Tuesday, was taken to the hospital shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday by her sisters-in-law Ethel Kennedy and Mrs. Stephen Smith.

The senator, who was on an overnight camping trip to Nantucket Island off the Massachusetts coast, flew to Hyannis when notified of his wife's miscarriage. He stayed at her bedside for some time.

The Kennedys have three children—Kara, 9, Edward M. Jr., 7, and Patrick Joseph, 1.

Mrs. Kennedy had miscarriages in May 1963 and May 1964.

The Federated Church, Sixth and Osage, will have a special missionary service at their regular 9:30 a.m. hour. Rev. Jesse L. Miller, a survivor of the "Bataan Death March," will be speaking. A former missionary to Japan, Rev. Miller is now the director of The Christian Overseas Servicemen's centers, an organization furnishing 'Christian homes away from home' for U.S. service men.

Special greeters will be Mrs. Charles Plumlee and Mrs. Arbie Chambers.

Pastor James Kane will bring the 10:45 a.m. message this Sunday at Maplewood Church, on the subject, "Nehemiah's Past - Our Past." This is the second in a series of messages on the Book of Nehemiah.

The topic for the evening message at 7 will be "Adam and Eve." Prayer time will precede the evening service at 6:30.

The Young People will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gilmore, after the service.

The Rev. Denis R. Craft, pastor of First United Methodist Church, is on vacation and in his absence the Rev. John T. Thornberry, minister of visitation, will bring the sermon at both the 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. worship services for the next two Sundays.

This Sunday the Rev. Thornberry's subject will be, "The Shepherd Leads Us." There will be a special musical number at the 10:30 service.

NEW YORK (AP) — A controversial Methodist magazine, its distribution stalled by official objections to content, finally came out belatedly and in part. There was nothing inside it—only the colorful cover showing a bright, abstract design against a black background.

This is Promotion Sunday in the Sunday School, which meets at 10 a.m. Those being promoted to the third grade will be presented copies of the Holy Bible at the close of the 9 a.m. service of worship.

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 the Merriopathy Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Lenore Yancey, 1421 South Carr. The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday at the church.

Sunday morning, the Rev. Medford E. Speaker, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, will bring the message entitled, "Jesus in the Work Day World." The meditation in Scripture is taken from Luke 10:1-20. The lesson in Scripture is from Genesis 3:9-24.

Sunday evening Rev. Speaker will present the sermon entitled, "The Ordinance of Baptism." The meditation in Scripture will be taken from selected passages. The lesson in Scripture will also be taken from selected passages.

The Rev. Roy E. Dameron will be directing the musical program for both services.

Firm Word By Chief On Safety

Mrs. Lula Gehlken

Chief of Police William Miller said Friday that the 15 miles-per-hour speed limits in school zones would be enforced by radar equipment, and placed the burden of responsibility for the safety of children on parents and drivers.

"The speed zones at schools will be enforced from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., not just when children are in the area," Miller said.

He said that all stop signs, whether in the middle of pedestrian crossing areas or at street corners, must be observed. He emphasized that this did not mean at only those times when children are using the cross-walks.

"Parents of children should advise them of the safest and shortest routes to and from school," Miller said.

"These same parents should also remember that the no parking regulations in school zones apply to them as well as every one else," he added.

Miller said that parents would be allowed to pull up in the no parking zones to let children out of the car, or let them in. "Those people who park in the zones for any length of time will be issued a summons. They'd be the first to demand stricter safety measures should a child be injured."

Miller indicated that parking in the zones was dangerous, since a child could dart out from between parked cars into traffic lanes.

Schools in Sedalia opened for a half-day session Friday. All-day sessions begin Tuesday, after the Labor Day holidays.

the late Ed and Sophie Schlu.

He was married on April 12, 1912, to Miss Chistena Lemer, Blackburn. They were the parents of one daughter.

Poverty: It's Everywhere

If poverty people in America think attention to their welfare is sliced pretty thin, they should become acquainted with conditions in other countries.

Let's listen to Columban Father Dick Prescott who remarks that his first Mass at a mission parish of 20,000 migrant families in one of Lima, Peru's poverty parishes was "a real happening... dogs were barking, babies crying, little kids popped in and out, and a bench collapsed. The area is so poor it doesn't even have a name. The town is made up of straw huts, acres of them, perched on a hillside in rows between dirt trails and sewage ditches. The weekly collection is 25 cents and a hard sacrifice for the donors."

Fellow Columban missionaries face similar conditions in 15 other parishes surrounding Lima.

—O—

Lima, Peru? Yes, that's the capital of the country whose new military regime is so busy thumbing collective noses at the United States and billions spent for Peru's welfare that they ignore the poverty conditions in their own back yard.

—O—

No doubt that the United States is doing better by its poverty programs, albeit not enough. Which brings up comment on President Nixon's Family Assistance plan, a polite name for the nation's welfare system if we ever heard one. But there may be some rough sledding for it since divided opinions are coming to the surface from both conservatives and liberals.

Coming to our attention are comments by Thurman Sensing, executive vice-president of the Southern States Industrial Council, who looks with jaundiced eye on the Nixon proposal in this manner:

"The one redeeming feature in the administration plan to subsidize poor families is the provision that a recipient of aid must accept suitable work, if offered. But that's the one feature unlikely to win approval in a Congress where liberals are powerful."

"It's not too hard to figure out what will happen. The liberals in Congress will 'gut' the legislative proposal of the requirement for accepting suitable work. From the liberal standpoint, no one should be compelled to accept work unless it is in a clean, air-conditioned office, at good wages. If the liberals are successful in removing the work requirement, the country will be stuck with a welfare program double the size of the present one — and with no means at all of getting the shiftless to work."

"The liberal attitude is fantastic, of course. Why in the world should it be a crime to insist that a welfare recipient rake leaves, pick up trash or work as a domestic? Someone in this country has to do the more menial tasks. In other lands men and women work as street cleaners or as cooks and regard honest work as dignified. The typical American welfare drone, who lives on the taxpayers, thinks he is too good to do any work. The smart-aleck youngster, brought up on OEO uplift programs, often says to an employer: 'Man, no one tells ME to do anything.' He expects the taxpayers to keep providing weekly payments. Such practices could bring on a taxpayers revolt."

"Millions of responsible citizens work hard every day of their lives. Husbands and fathers rise early to drive trucks, unload cargo, and work at heavy construction jobs. Wives and mothers devote long hours to maintaining their homes, doing the laundry and other chores. Many millions of citizens "moonlight" — have two jobs, that is. If this is the case, how can the nation tolerate a welfare system that allows able-bodied people to get relief payments while avoiding work."

"Whether or not the 'suitable work' requirement stays in the Nixon administration Family Assistance plan, the program is a mistake. It assumes that society must bear the burdens of 22 million people, whereas every able-bodied adult should be responsible for his own maintenance and progress in life. The administration only antagonizes working people with the Family Assistance plan. It would do well to shelve it."

Baby Gets Better Care
If You Use These Hints

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am no longer a new mother but there was a day when I would have liked some Pointers. Lucille, when I bathed my children in a double sink I folded a bath towel lengthwise across the front of the sink so it caught most of the water. It is no fun to feel like you, too, have had a bath. I kept a stuffed animal in the crib with baby. When changing diapers I could stick the pins in this toy and this smoothed them so they went into the diaper more easily.—ELLEN

DEAR POLLY—Lucille asked for some Pointers for mothers with new babies. When dressing baby, roll the sleeves of any garment, insert your fingers through a rolled sleeve and grasp his hand, pulling it through the sleeve. This helps protect those tiny fingers and makes dressing baby easier.

I had several sleepers with zippers and found the zipper tabs flipped up to scratch baby's neck. Many sleepers have small pompons on the feet. These can be clipped (or easily made if yours do not have them) and sewed to the zipper tab to prevent scratches and bruises on the chin and neck.—ELINOR

DEAR POLLY and Lucille—After getting the straps to small overalls caught in the washer so tightly they had to be cut off, I learned to pin them to the pants with a rust proof safety pin before washing. This is neater than tying them together and relieves the problem.

When my daughter was nine months old she loved her bath but it was always a battle to get her out of the tub. I started letting the water run out of the tub or sink before taking her out. With the water gone and nothing to splash she was willing to be removed and dried. Her bath time became enjoyable for both of us.—SUE

DEAR POLLY—When there are many dishes to be washed there will be quite a stack of dish towels to dry. I had this happen recently when helping out at a neighbor's house where there had been a death. While the oven was still warm I pulled out the rack and hung quite a number of wet towels on the wires. The rack was slipped back in, the door closed and they dried out of sight.—HESSIE

I-70 Speedway Features Weekend Doubleheader

ODESSA — Officials of I-70 Speedway, located three miles east of Odessa, have been working at fever pitch this week in preparation for another double bill of racing action. The Lafayette County plant will host the super-modified and caged sprint cars on Friday night and play the part of host to the stock cars on Sunday evening.

Early entries for the super-modified show have been received from such stellar chauffeurs as Gene Gennett, Kansas City; Jan Opperman, Hayward, Calif. Gennett copped the 75-lap feature Sunday night at Olympic and Opperman won a heat and took third in the feature at I-70 the same evening. Others expected to make a dash for the $2500 purse include Roy Hibbard,

Deadline For Archers Is Near

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Park Department reminds those interested in applying for the deer archery hunt at Knob Noster State Park that the deadline is Sept. 12.

Only 500 bow hunters will be allowed to participate in the hunt on Oct. 18-19. The restriction is necessary because of the large number of archery tags expected to be sold. In 1960, when the last archery hunt was held at Knob Noster only 3,000 tags were sold. In 1868, nearly 15,000 tags were sold.

The 500 hunters will be selected in a special drawing at the Park Department's main office in Jefferson City on Sept. 15. The hunt on the wildlife reserve is in co-operation with the Conservation Commission. It is estimated that there are from 300 to 400 deer on the park grounds. This over population could easily lead to starvation during the winter months. The purpose of the hunt is to bring the herd back into control.

The Knob Noster state park was stocked with 50 deer between 1945 and 1947. Hunts have been allowed on the park only during 1951, 1952, 1953, 1959, and 1960. The last hunt in 1960 was a three day unrestricted archery hunt when 13 deer were killed with more than 900 bow hunters participated.

In order to qualify for the drawing, hunters should send a postcard with their name and address to the Conservation Commission, P.O. Box 180, Jefferson City, Mo. by the Sept. 12 deadline.

Bosox are Told That Booze Is Out on Flights

BOSTON (AP) — Prohibition is just a name from the past for members of the Boston Red Sox, but it's suddenly striking home.

The edict is out: no more booze on flights between cities. And that goes for players, managers, coaches, writers and anyone else traveling on the Red Sox' charter plane.

General Manager Dick O'Connell, a social drinker himself, cracked down Thursday, directing "airlines not to serve hard liquor" to any personnel on Red Sox' chartered flights.

The Red Sox declined to expand on O'Connell's memo posted in the clubhouse and later distributed through copies for traveling baseball writers.

However, players privately criticized stewards on United Airlines, which accommodates the Red Sox' charters.

Baptist Schedule

Housel Park will host two games on the Harmony Baptist schedule tonight.

At 6:30 p.m., LaMonte will battle New Hope and in the 8 p.m. contest, East Sedalia Baptist will tangle with Emmett Avenue.

Marshall, Mo.; Ron Perkins, Wood River, Ill., and Al Futrell of East St. Louis, Ill. "Tiger" Bob Williams, one of the most popular race car drivers competing today, is still a doubtful starter. Williams hit a slick spot on the oval last Sunday causing him to spin and hit the wall. Williams walked away from the accident but the Jack Cunningham machine suffered heavy damage.

The stock car division is headed up with outstanding talent as officials stated they expected such IMCA greats Lewis Taylor, Shawnee, Kan.; Thurman Lovejoy, Kansas City, and Freddie Whisler, Liberty, all to put in an appearance. Topping the late model field will be Jerry Wichman of Kansas City who took the trophy dash and feature on the stockers opening date at the high banked asphalt track. Wichman drove the Dick Aubrey entry opening day but is expected to be back in his own mount Sunday.

Scheduled to appear in the "bomber" stock division are men from throughout central Missouri including Terry Bivins, Shawnee, Kan.; Allen Chancellor, Don Conner and Don Stevens all of Kansas City and Tom Faircloth of Liberty.

A special treat for the race fans Sunday night will be the appearance of the Courtesy Mustang Club of Kansas City who will put on a special precision driving drill at intermission time.

Gates will open at 5 p.m. both evenings. Time trials are scheduled for 7:30 on Friday and at 6:30 on Sunday evening.

Bob Tucker Has Perfect Gun Score

Bob Tucker of Green Ridge had a perfect score during the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club firing Wednesday night.

Tucker bagged 25 of 25 shots for his perfect night. Dean Snare, Warrensburg; Paul Brownfield, V. Arnett, Paul White and Dickie Sole, all of Green Ridge; Fred Ferguson and Ray Schuse of Warsaw; Floyd Stevenson, C. Dickey and David Parkhurst, all of Sedalia and Bill Nicholes of Osceola each fired 24 of 25.

High team score went to Third National Bank with 109 of 125.

Standings

7. Judges will rate students according to the following scale keeping in mind not only their physical abilities and appearance but also their leadership abilities, character and citizenship.

The candidates will be selected on the following scale. Yell technique, co-ordination and timing, 15 points; pom pon technique, smoothness, variety and projection, 15 points; voice, five points; appearance and posture, 15 points; personality, 15 points; pep, 10 points; and leadership ability to inspire crowd, 25 points. A perfect score would give the candidate 100 points.

The song girls or pom pon girls are here to stay on the collegiate, high school and junior college levels. So enthusiastic has been the reaction to these prancing, dancing, whirling coeds throughout the country that in most areas and now here they will become an integral and exciting part of the campus scene.

Students who are interested in trying out must arrange their college schedule to have noon Tuesday and Thursday free and 3 p.m. free daily. Only one practice a week in each of these time slots will be held, but the three o'clock hour will be dedicated to the day after the pom pon cheerleaders are selected, Mrs. Byrum indicated.

Boys are encouraged to try out also and they will not be expected to have any pom pon duties. They need only to have 3 p.m. free for practices.

Tryouts will be conducted in the following manner:

1. Notices will be posted on the bulletin boards.

2. Applications must be turned in the day tryouts begin.

3. Students trying out will be required to learn two cheers, two pom pon routines of at least 16 count per routine, and be proficient in jumps.

4. Students will try out individually and then in groups of three or four.

5. If there are more than 15 or

Cowboys Hold Camera Day

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Eighty players greeted new Oklahoma State University football Coach Floyd Gass and his staff Thursday as the Cowboys held their annual photo day.

Fifty-five of the squad members were new, including 9.7 track sprinter Mike Hull, from Newkirk, and baseballer Steve Houck of Mangum.

Gass said Hull would be used as a wide receiver and Houck as a punter.

OSU returns 23 lettermen this year. There are 74 sophomores and 19 redshirts from last season.

Jan Opperman

Haywood, California's Jan Opperman is scheduled to be at I-70 Speedway tonight to try the "fast asphalt" at that new racing facility. Opperman was named the IMCA's "rookie-of-the-year" in 1968.

Ann Landers

Draft Counselor Could Be of Help

Dear Ann Landers: I am a homosexual who is due to be drafted soon. I have been told that if I tell the truth about myself I will be rejected.

What I need to know is this: How secret are those records? Is it possible the information can be used against me later in life? I have managed to keep my homosexuality well concealed. Even my parents are unaware of it. Will they be informed if I am rejected from these grounds? Please help me. — Double Lifer

Dear D.: In order to obtain a 1-Y or 4-F classification you need a letter of certification from a physician or a psychologist or a psychiatrist stating that you are a homosexual.

This letter of certification becomes part of your permanent history and is available to many government agencies. Moreover, a future employer may ask for permission to see the file and your refusal to produce it could be a red flag.

Canadians to Probe Report of Actions

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Canadian Navy is investigating complaints that three of its destroyer-escorts played "cowboys and Indians" during weekend exercises, leaving a trail of damage along 10 miles of shoreline.

A spokesman at the Canadian forces base said Wednesday the ships were steaming about 12 knots during maneuvers Sunday, "which isn't fast when you consider that British Columbia ferries go ... at about 18 or 20 knots."

"They were just playing cowboys and Indians out there in the inlet," said Percy Perkins, a marina operator. "They went up and down, making sharp turns, and the wash they created was just like a tidal wave."

Perkins said one of his floats was damaged and several boats were smashed.

Rod McDonell, another marina operator, said he and a friend went out in a small boat and tried to stop the ships. They were greeted by spray from a fire hose, he said.

Dear E. A.: I'm sorry you are sick and tired of hearing that phrase because you are going to hear it one more time—with a slight variation.

My attorneys tell me that so long as the letter is in the mailbox, the person to whom it is addressed can invoke the law. But here's the hooker: When the letter is taken out of the mailbox and tossed on the kitchen table, it is no longer under the protection of the postal authorities.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm still laughing about the meter reader who turned around and looked into the eyes of the woman who was doing her laundry stark naked, except for her son's football helmet.

If he had been any kind of a gentleman, Ann, he would have bowed courteously and said, "Excuse me, sir."

Pass the word for next time, please. — Windy City.

Dear Windy: What do you mean "next time"? Wouldn't you say once is enough?

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

No Cross-Examination Will Occur at Kopechne Inquest

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — There will be no cross-examination of witnesses at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, Judge James A. Boyle ruled Thursday at a hearing with attorneys for prospective witnesses.

Exceptions to that ruling were filed by lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and for 10 other persons who attended a party with Kennedy and Miss Kopechne before his car plunged into a tidal pond, resulting in the 28-year-old secretary's death.

Boyle, who will preside at the inquest next Wednesday, rejected the lawyers' arguments that the inquest is of an accusatory nature and that cross-examination should be permitted. He said issues like self-incrimination would not apply.

The judge also said attorneys would not be permitted to raise objections to questions.

Opposing the no-cross-examination ruling were Edward F. Hanify, representing Kennedy; Paul Redmond, representing three men and five young women who were at the party on Chappaquiddick Island July 18, and Joseph P. Donahue Jr., representing Paul Markham and Joseph Gargan.

Kennedy has said he told Markham and Gargan about the accident the night it happened but none of the three called police or firemen for a rescue attempt and the mishap went unreported for more than eight hours.

At the 55-minute hearing conducted to air a number of motions from counsel for expected witnesses, Boyle said he would permit attorneys for the witnesses to advise their clients during the proceeding on questions of a constitutional nature.

Boyle deferred decision on several other motions, among them one on isolation of witnesses. He said he would rule at the appropriate time, but did not say when that might be.

The inquest was ordered by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis to establish the legal, versus the medical, cause of Miss Kopechne's death.

Nursing Students Graduate

Fifteen State Fair Community College nursing students received professional certificates Thursday evening in graduation exercises marking their successful completion of the first licensed practical nursing program at SFC.

The graduates are now qualified to take the state board examination to become licensed practical nurses.

This "first" for State Fair Community College was held at 7:30 p.m. in the student union at the college where the honorable Thomas F. Eagleton, United States Senator from Missouri, gave the graduation address.

Nursing students in the first class: Pam Alspaugh, Gertrude Basgall, Lorraine Bird, Ruby Gillespie, Betty Hall, Peggy Harrison, Mary Ann Holden, Nancy Kirby, Doris Lohnes, Emma Stephenson, Sandy Sunderland, Opal Swearngin, Ruth Ann Ulmer, Ila Jean Volpp and Jeanne White.

The practical nursing program is a twelve month course. The first sixteen weeks are spent on classroom courses in anatomy, nutrition, fundamentals of nursing, and (See NURSING, Page 4)

2000 Dead Since Start Of Pullout

SAIGON (AP) — More than 2,000 Americans have been killed in the Vietnam war since President Nixon announced June 8 that 25,000 U.S. troops would be pulled out of South Vietnam, an unofficial count showed Thursday.

The U.S. Command said 190 U.S. troops were killed and 1,367 wounded in action last week—down from 244 killed and 1,409 wounded the week before when enemy activity was at a peak.

According to U.S. Headquarters, 2,085 Americans have died since the withdrawal announcement and 7,585 since this year began—an average of 223 a week.

South Vietnamese battle deaths since the year began now total 10,648, a weekly average of 313. This reflects a greater effort by government troops to carry their end of the war.

Although Nixon said last Saturday he was postponing an expected announcement on further U.S. troop withdrawals, Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor said Thursday he felt confident further American troop withdrawals can be made.

Say Kindergartens Hinge On Required Classrooms

By CATHY BINDERUP
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

"No room, no classes," is the word from Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools, concerning the State Board of Education's rule requiring the public school system to furnish kindergarten this year.

The only thing preventing the grade schools from having kindergartens is lack of space, according to P. A. Sillers, superintendent of elementary education. "The seven buildings are filled to capacity, there just is no room to squeeze in the kindergartens," he said.

At present, Sedalia's public schools are rated AAA, the highest possible rating. Each spring the state supervisor inspects the schools and a rating is voted on by the State Department of Education.

However, Dr. Norris is pessimistic for the future. "Though we still maintain that triple A, it is indefinite as to how long that rank will hold," he said. "The state requires that kindergartens be in the schools this year and eventually, if those classes are not started in the system, Sedalia's rating will drop."

A drop in rating indicates a drop in the quality of instruction in a school system. Among other things, this would likely mean reduced chances of Sedalia students getting into many colleges.

The Sedalia school board has proposed the building of a junior high school. This would alleviate the problem of overcrowding, according to school officials, and kindergartens could be set up.

The junior high school was put to a vote last spring, but did not obtain the two-thirds margin needed for passage.

In Pettis County, LaMonte, Hughesville and Smithton have kindergartens. Sedalia and Green Ridge do not. Among 14 other area towns, only three

New Commander For Green Berets

SAIGON (AP) — A new officer takes over Saturday as commander of the Vietnam Green Berets, whose image has been tarnished by the arrest of their former chief and seven others on murder charges.

An Army spokesman said Thursday Col. Michael D. Healy, a Green Beret veteran, would take over as commander of the U.S. Special Forces.

He succeeds Col. Alexander Lemberges, 43, Sparks, Nev., who assumed command July 21 after Col. Robert B. Rheault, 43, and seven other Green Berets were arrested in the alleged death of a Vietnamese.

The spokesman said Lemberges assignment had been temporary and he will return to the United States for treatment of an ankle broken July 26 in a parachute training jump.

Healy joined the Special Forces or Green Berets in 1954. He served in Germany in 1957 and in Vietnam in 1964.

Until recently Healy had commanded the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division. It was pulled out of the war under President Nixon's order withdrawing 25,000 U.S. troops from Vietnam. Healy accompanied the brigade to Hawaii for deactivation, then returned to South Vietnam this week.

The Army announced Aug. 6 that Rheault, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., six of his intelligence officers, and a sergeant had been charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the alleged death of a Vietnamese man. Some military sources have said the man worked for both the Green Berets and the North Vietnamese.

In an interview, Healy said he was charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the alleged death of a Vietnamese man. Some military sources have said the man worked for both the Green Berets and the North Vietnamese.

Says Negro Should Seek Office Of Vice-President in 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Channing Phillips says a black man should make a serious try for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in 1972—if for no other reason than to "clear the way for Julian Bond in 1976."

Phillips, a Negro minister and Democratic national committee man for the District of Columbia, one year ago became the first black American ever to be offered as a candidate for the presidential nomination of a major political party. He freely acknowledges the 67½ votes he received at the Chicago convention served only as a protest, but adds:

"I think it's realistic to think in terms of a black man for the vice presidency as early as 1972. And I suspect that whoever runs will be clearing the way for Julian Bond in 1976—which is not a bad idea. He'd be of age by then."

Bond, a 29-year-old Georgia Negro legislator, had to decline because of his age when dissidents at the Democratic convention in Chicago wanted to nominate him as vice president. The constitution requires the vice president to be 35.

In an interview, Phillips said a black man would "have the advantage" over a white man as vice president.

"We have a habit of choosing a president based on his international awareness and stature. I think an equal argument could be made for choosing a vice president for his urban involvement and awareness."

"He knows the problem inside out. He has the advantage over the white man in being able to relate to the dispossessed and to provide them with hope," he said.

"I don't think any white politician that I've seen has enough guts to move in this direction unless there's some demonstration by polls or campaign that a good part of the country is ready for it."

"So maybe the black people need to run a vice presidential candidate seriously in 1972 to demonstrate that—as well as to move the presidential candidates into dealing with some questions they try to evade and to make some choices they don't want to make."

Briton Pledges Work For Justice, Equality

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — British Home Secretary James Callaghan pledged Thursday night to work for "justice and equality, a lack of fear and an absence of discrimination" for Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic Minority.

The husky Cabinet minister made his promise to cheering Irishmen in Londonderry's Bogside Roman Catholic district during a whirlwind tour of the riot-damaged area.

At times during his visit behind the Bogside barricades, Callaghan was all but swept off his feet in wild civil rights demonstrations.

Callaghan had a long talk with leaders of Bogside's Citizens Defense Association before going out onto a balcony of the house to tell the chanting crowd: "I will try to ensure that in Northern Ireland there is justice and equality, a lack of fear and an absence of discrimination."

In he journeyed to the Protestant Fountain Street area and was greeted with cheers and a forest of Union Jacks. The loudest cheer came when he told the crowd: "I'm not here to take over your government."

"What we must do is see that the fear, which is real, is dispelled and that justice, houses, jobs and fair play are available for all."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israeli jets raided Jordan Thursday, artillery rumbled along the Suez Canal and Arabs in Damascus chanted "War, war" at the urging of Syrian President Nureddin Atassi.

The Israeli army said its planes blasted a Jordanian gun position near the Damia Bridge in the Jordan Valley after it fired on an Israeli patrol and killed one soldier. All planes returned safely to base, a spokesman said.

Israeli and Egyptian guns dueled for three hours midway up the 103-mile Suez Canal and at its southern tip. A military spokesman in Cairo said the firing was concentrated in the Feridan and Balah areas and at Port Taufiq.

In another military communiqué Egypt claimed an Israeli aircraft attacked an army training camp at Asyut in upper Egypt, but was driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

The chanting Arabs in Damascus, said to be the biggest crowd seen in the Syrian capital since World War II, were personally led by Atassi in a two-hour protest demonstration against the burning of Al Aksah Mosque in the Arab section of Jerusalem.

As the demonstrators roared for war to "liberate Islam's holy shrines in Palestine," Atassi (See ISRAELI, Page 4)

Schools Will Open In City on Friday

Doors will open Friday at 8:45 a.m., marking the beginning of another nine-month session for Sedalia public schools.

Friday will not be a full day of school, and the students can look forward to a final three-day holiday before settling down to work Tuesday. For both grade schools and high schools, Friday will be spent adjusting to new schedules and becoming acquainted with teachers and texts.

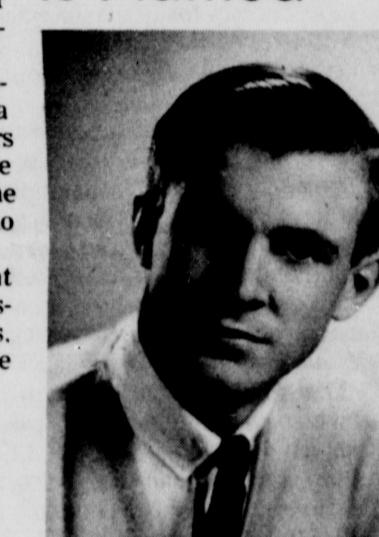

Smith-Cotton High School expects 2,040 students, the largest enrollment in the school's 44-year history. The seven elementary schools will begin the year with 2,805 students.

Callaghan, here to find a peace formula to end Northern Ireland's religious and political strife, was confronted with shouts of "release the prisoners" and "Stormont out." Abolition of the provincial parliament at Stormont House outside Belfast has now become the No. 1 demand of the civil rights movement and associated groups.

The prisoners are 21 suspected Republican subversives held since this month's riots in which eight people died and hundreds were wounded.

Callaghan came to Londonderry in a Royal Navy helicopter from Belfast. Even as he

EDITORIALS

Not a Yawning Matter

Ho-hum!

Accompanied by a yawn, a ho-hum will likely be the expression of a lot of "safe" drivers as they cast a glance at the contents of this column today.

Another treatise on the automotive hazards of a holiday weekend? It's downright superfluous repetition.

However, be alert; here it comes again, almost as frustrating as pleas for peace at the Paris conferences.

Almost before we are aware of it Labor Day is upon us. The official highway carnage count begins at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight, next Monday.

During the same period a year ago there were 688 persons killed in traffic accidents across the nation, nineteen of them in Missouri.

So what? The statisticians predict the number of casualties and they're usually right. Human beings are powerless to change these occurrences. It's fatalism.

Well, that's one way to dodge responsibility. Be a fatalist. You don't have to be courteous, patient or alert concerning the manner of your driving. If you are going to get it, you are going to get because it's in the cards.

To which we'd like to reply, 'tain't so!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Brother Sam Writes Book About LBJ

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — While President Nixon was entertaining the Lyndon Johnsons on the West Coast, LBJ's elusive brother Sam slipped into Austin, Tex., dropped off the manuscript of his forthcoming book, "My Brother Lyndon," and then discreetly beat it back to New York.

Once brother Lyndon starts reading the unauthorized manuscript, Sam won't be safe within bomb burst of LBJ's voice. The manuscript is loaded with comments and confessions that LBJ isn't going to like.

The former president has been trying to get his hands on the manuscript ever since he learned about it, but Sam has been studiously keeping out of his brother's way. Sam didn't show up at the LBJ ranch for the family Christmas last year, turned down an invitation to join LBJ for his last presidential flight on Air Force One and ignored another invitation to attend LBJ's last State of the Union address.

"Silent Sam," as he was known before he decided to tell all, didn't want his brother to talk him out of publishing the book. For Lyndon has been making the decisions for both of them most of their lives.

Sam has spent a frustrating life in Lyndon's shadow, keeping in the backrooms, running his brother's errands. Sam was divorced twice while Lyndon and Lady Bird ascended the political heights together. At the pinnacle of Lyndon's power in the Senate, Sam fell in a bathtub and broke his leg. The leg didn't mend properly and had to be broken again.

To ease the pain and the frustration, Sam started drinking too much. While Lyndon was winning the 1964 election by the greatest landslide in history, Sam was confined for weeks in a Myrtle Beach, S.C., hospital, exhausted, emaciated and alcoholic. One of his nurses swore out a warrant for his arrest when a check he didn't remember writing bounced.

On another occasion, Sam and a divorcee were dumped into a Mexican jail after causing an altercation at a gas station south of the border. They were released only after Sam finally convinced the Mexican authorities that he was the brother of the President of the United States.

—Lyndon to Rescue—

The relationship between the two brothers has been as trying for Lyndon, however, as it has been for Sam. Repeatedly, Lyndon has been obliged to bail his brother out of trouble. He arranged through the late Sen. Olin Johnston, D-S.C., for example, to quash the bad-check charge against Sam. Clark

Looking Backward

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Accidents going and coming from camp meeting at Flat Creek are getting numerous. A wagon broke down Sunday night and came in on three wheels. Last night another vehicle broke down slightly injuring a lady.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The McLaughlin Furniture Co. has started work on a remodeling program which will cost $7,500. This will include a modern display front with new windows and the whole lower part of the main furniture storeroom fitted up attractively. The front will be reconstructed with white tile-faced brick to conform to the front of the funeral chapel, and new plate glass windows installed.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Capt. A. A. Parker, who for the past two years has been in charge of the Salvation Army work in Sedalia, is being transferred to the Lafayette Park Corps, St. Louis. Mrs. Parker and their three children will accompany him.

Thought for Today

"They shall teach my people the difference between the holy and the common, and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean." — Ezekiel 44:23

Great ability without discretion comes almost invariably to a tragic end. — Leon Gambetta, French statesman.

Fatalism is the bunk. Millions of accidents are prevented every day on highways and streets because of alertness, carefulness and courtesy by operators of motor vehicles. To be sure there are cases of mechanical failures but there would be less of these by more rigid compliance and enforcement of the motor vehicle safety regulations.

Labor Day weekend — one of those three-day affairs — invites the use of tolerance; not only tolerance of others but tolerance of your own capacity and limitations as a driver of a potential death-dealing and property-destroying projectile.

In addition to rational performance with your driving over the holiday period, the practice suggests carrying vigilance beyond that as schools reopen and children resume use of street crossings.

After living through Labor Day weekend and avoiding killing someone else, keep an eye out for youngsters on bicycles and the possibility of others darting from between parked automobiles or dashing across intersections.

Be sure your brakes are in proper condition for quick stops.

Wake up you ho-hummers! Slow down and let the kids, your passengers and yourselves live a little longer.

GHS

Clifford also pulled string to keep the story out of the newspapers.

As President, LBJ once told his brother pleadingly: "If you just stay out of trouble until I leave, I'll make you president of Chase Manhattan Bank."

Sam, in turn, complained to friends that his brother was always watching him.

In the manuscript he has just completed, Sam tells of his role as intermediary for LBJ's harassed staff.

"Anybody who worked for Lyndon over 30 days," Sam says, "deserves the Legion of Merit or the Purple Heart."

Sam's most scathing comments are directed at the Kennedys, whom he accuses of playing cat-and-mouse with brother Lyndon. Sam believes his brother should have given all the Kennedy aides 30 days notice after moving into the White House.

In his original manuscript, Sam gave the needle to "Professor" Mike Mansfield who succeeded his brother as Senate leader. Sam wrote that his brother didn't like anyone as smart as himself as a deputy and selected Mansfield because of his mediocrity. The publishers, however, edited out this passage.

On the other hand, Sam reports that LBJ had a good relationship with the man who succeeded him in the White House. As Vice President, Richard Nixon once offered to help LBJ keep a Democratic district attorney in Texas. Charlie Harris, in office throughout the Eisenhower years. However, Sam claims his brother used the late Senate appropriations chairman Styles Bridges, who simply called then-Attorney General Herbert Brownell and reminded him: "You can't even buy toilet paper without my permission."

Brownell got the message and retained Harris as district attorney, Sam recalls.

It looks as if "Silent Sam" isn't going to be silent much longer, and brother Lyndon will be furious.

—Inside Muckraker—

Fellow muckraker Clark Mollenhoff, who recently signed on at the White House, has been assigned to spot scandals for President Nixon before they cause a political backfire.

To keep his administration untainted, the President would like to stop wrong-doing before it is detected by outsiders. Mollenhoff's job is to stay ahead of Congress and the press in searching out malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in the government agencies.

Mollenhoff has one of the best noses for scandal in the newspaper business. His stories in the Des Moines Register and Tribune helped to bring the downfall of former Teamsters boss Dave Beck and his successor, Jimmy Hoffa.

In the middle of his investigation, Mollenhoff confronted Hoffa in his Detroit home. Though a hulking ex-football player, Mollenhoff took the precaution to arrange with a taxi driver: "I am visiting the home of Jimmy Hoffa, and if anything happens to me, I want you to report it to the police."

Thus prepared, Mollenhoff banged on Hoffa's door.

"Well hello, trouble," greeted the tough little union leader. Mollenhoff stayed for three hours, in complete safety, asking questions.

Mollenhoff is still digging up dirt, but he is now an inside man. He reports to presidential aide John Ehrlichman.

Letter to the Editor

MARDELL MONTGOMERY (Kansas City) — It was stated in the paper that probably Judge Couey was the only living person who had been to every fair.

My father Joe Montgomery is 81 years old and has been to the Fair every year. He was there three days this year, walking over the entire fair ground alone and without a cane or any kind of help.

I can remember when there were street cars and 50 years ago on a Sunday afternoon, my father took my sister, Mrs. Vern Abney of Sedalia, and me to the Fair. I was two years old but I can remember the ride and the fair.

My father's first love is the saddle and harness horses. This year he had the pleasure of seeing his granddaughter, Sandra Durrill, ride her horse Cinderella in an open class. Miss Durrill is a teacher in the Fort Osage, Mo., school system.

Secrets of Ranking High in Club Work

By BETTY CANARY

For those women whose last child goes off to school this year, a warning. Even now the committees are forming and your excuse of "Oh, I'd LOVE to, but I have little Karin at home..." will no longer be valid.

Membership drives will be under way soon and if you have any hopes of escaping, you must begin making plans now. A hint. Knowing all the words to "I Can Get Along Without You Very Well," does not work.

There is the possibility that you are actually itching to get into the thick of things in the club and organization world and you are looking forward to the coming school term as a time of freedom from hearth, etc. If you yearn for entree into the land of good works and intellectual pursuits, may I be the first to offer lots of luck and some tips.

The important thing is to prepare yourself for the social time after the meeting when everyone drinks punch and talks a lot.

If you have been looking forward to this kind of life, then you must have already made some preparations. That is to say, you belong to at least two book clubs.

Anyone hoping to make it during Punch Time obviously has a season ticket to something besides the basketball games. (If yours is for the String Quartet Society, you are off to a good start.)

If you are sincerely interested in The Arts (and who would dare accuse you of being insincere?), the members calling on you at home will recognize this as you have an African mask hanging on the dining room wall, right next to the Picasso reproduction.

On the coffee table you should have a reproduction of the famous lions that guard the doors of the New York Public Library. (If you don't have this sort of thing now, don't despair. You can get all sorts of important stuff through the mail order houses. Look through the magazine advertisements and you'll see them — usually between the ads that say "Ever Wish YOU Talked Better?" and "I Almost Itched to Death!")

Learn to weave or pot and you'll have your very own booth at the school festival or the community arts fair.

Never admit to liking anything on television except documentaries and the 11 o'clock news. (It's O.K. to watch Laugh-In and Mission: Impossible — but only every other week.) Threaten your children with NO television if they tell you how you like Gunsmoke so much you even tune in the summer reruns.

Actually, you can probably get to be a member in good standing with the club you hope to join without all this bother if only you (1) work your fingers to the bone hanging crepe paper and (2) make a thousand dozen cookies for every bake sale.

If you also bake pork chops and scalloped potato casseroles for the annual dinner, you might even get elected president.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

'Burning Feet' Ailment Is of Varied Origin

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What is the cause and treatment of a burning sensation in my feet? I don't have athlete's foot. I have taken vitamins and other medicines but nothing has helped.

A — Possible causes of your trouble are hardening of the arteries, excessive use of alcohol or tobacco, Raynaud's disease, frostbite, tight shoes or a deficiency of vitamin B. If your doctor can identify the cause, he may be able to direct his treatment to its removal. Otherwise, he may want to try a treatment that has been used with great success in Great Britain and has recently been introduced in this country — the injection of an ice-cold saline solution into the spinal canal.

They deserve little credit yet when the hand was played in a sectional tournament, almost half the pairs failed to get to the grand slam and only one or two managed to reach game.

North and South deserve little credit for getting to seven spades and even less for making all 13 tricks. They could also have made seven no-trump if they had bid that grand slam.

They deserve little credit yet when the hand was played in a sectional tournament, almost half the pairs failed to get to the grand slam and only one or two managed to reach game.

South's jump to two spades made life easy for North. He might have gone right into a Blackwood routine but North was in no hurry. He wanted to find out his partner's hand pattern so he temporized with a mere raise to three spades.

South could do no more than continue to four spades. He had a minimum for his two spade jump response with good spades.

At the same time the spade rebid gave North all the information he needed to be able to take full control by means of Blackwood. North held the perfect Blackwood hand with first- or second-round control of all suits.

When South replied with five spades to show three aces North saw no reason to waste time checking for kings. He simply bid the grand slam.

He did have one slight worry. South might show up with three little diamonds. When dummy hit the table South announced, "Drawing trumps," and spread his hand.

Torn Chiffon Gown

Is Problem to Her

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I stepped on my new prom gown and tore the chiffon. How can I mend this tear? It is about four inches long and very ravelled along the edges?—CATHY

DEAR POLLY—We cut some indoor-outdoor carpeting scraps into sizable squares to make lasting scouring pads that are great for pots and pans and safe for chrome and bathroom fixtures. No scratching, and with cleanser they work like steel wool and remove rust from tools. I especially like one for polishing the pressing surface of my electric iron.

We are trailer bugs who have learned quite a few tricks during five camping years. A baby food jar will keep stick matches dry for lighting stoves and fires and a circle of sandpaper placed inside the lid makes a good striking surface.

A second-hand dresser was bought, cut down to fit in our camper and is a far better place for the children to keep their clothes than in suitcases.

Cigar boxes are handy containers for first-aid equipment, hair rollers and crayons. We also fill one with gum and hard candy for the children when they get restless.

Large coffee cans with plastic tops make fine canisters for the trailer and plastic pill bottles are excellent unbreakable spice containers. A soft drink bottle carton makes a good portable container for flashlights, maps, facial tissues, insect repellent, first-aid kit and all the small things essential for camping.—ANNE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how other readers wash their white nylon undergarments to keep them from turning yellow. I use one of the liquid detergents recommended for washing delicate things but my white "undies" turn yellow after about three washings.—MRS. W. N. R.

Smith-Cotton 'Whing Ding' Set Friday

The first big event of the year for Smith-Cotton High School is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Friday, when the senior class sponsors its annual 'Whing Ding.'

Among the activities will be a basketball throw, cake walk, football throw, and the popular 'jail.'

According to Steve Hurt, senior class president, the class holds the Whing Ding to earn money for graduation and other senior activities throughout the year.

Highlighting the evening will be the crowning of the 1969 Whing Ding King, chosen from the senior class. Miss Luscious Lips of 1969 will also be in the limelight. Anyone may vote for a dame.

Sponsors of the class are Mrs. David Routsong and Armin Ciersdorf.

Accidents

A 1968 Opel Kadett, driven by Jenifer K. Nutt, 520½ West Second, was heavily damaged when it struck a curb at Fourth and Missouri at 2:13 p.m. Wednesday. The right front wheel and the underside of the car were damaged.

A 1960 Corvair, owned by Charles M. Swords, 700 East 24th, was slightly damaged in a hit and run accident while it was parked on the Thompson Hills Shopping Center lot about 4:36 p.m. Wednesday.

The 700 block of South Limit was the scene of a two-car accident at 4:34 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1966 Chrysler driven by Vivian B. Norlin, 1526 West 14th, and a 1966 Rambler driven by Eunice M. Perkins, Route 3.

The right rear of the Chrysler and the front of the Rambler were damaged.

William James Cramer, Smithton, was listed in fair condition at Bothwell Hospital Thursday morning after he fell and hurt his neck Wednesday at 9:53 p.m. on the basement stairs at Griff's Burger Bar.

Seventh and Massachusetts
Published Every Friday

This newspaper is a Dear publication dedicated to the interests and welfare of the people of Sedalia and Central Missouri. It is published at Sedalia, Mo., as second class matter under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Sedalia Mentioned In Article

Sedalia is mentioned in the "My Most Unforgettable Character" article in the September issue of The Reader's Digest.

In the article, Nobel prizewinner Ralph Bunche recalls his grandmother, Nana, who was born, he relates, in Sedalia in 1855. The article goes on to describe how Nana influenced the young Bunche through her force of character.

The 1855 date cited by Bunche could be challenged by history buffs, who could point out that Sedalia was not platted until 1860. Bunche is likely speaking of the Sedalia area or merely Pettis County insofar as the date is concerned.

Mrs. Effie Craig

Mrs. Effie Craig, 83, 1122 East 15th, died at 1:45 a.m. Thursday at Bothwell Hospital. She was born Aug. 6, 1886, at Georgetown. She was married to Thomas Bales, Dec. 2, 1901. Following his death, she was married to Claude Craig, July 26, 1916. He also preceded her in death.

Mrs. Craig was a member of the Georgetown Methodist Church.

She is survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. Nellie Stotts, 222 East Walnut; one step-son, Jesse Bales, Holden, and several other relatives.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Marvin Nobles, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, officiating.

Israel

si said: "Israel's burning of the Al Aksa Mosque will not pass without punishment."

Israel has rejected charges that it was responsible for the fire.

In Beirut, Lebanon, King Hussein of Jordan said in a newspaper interview that war with Israel was inevitable "and the possibility exists of an explosion at any time."

Hussein, who has maintained close ties with Britain and up to now has been regarded as pro-Western, indicated that if the West did not furnish Jordan with arms to fight Israel he would turn to Moscow.

In another development, the Israeli Knesset — parliament — demanded an urgent United Nations investigation into the plight of Jews in Arab lands. It adopted a resolution calling on "all states and parliaments who uphold human rights, as well as religious heads in the world, to take action without delay to save the Jews."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Teikoah relayed the request to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in New York, asking him to use his influence to end what he called a wave of terror against Jews in Iraq, Syria and Egypt.

Tekoah made the request during a half-hour private meeting with Thant. He declined to discuss the secretary-general's reaction.

Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery.
